

WISCONSIN SUMMER LANGUAGE INSTITUTES

2017 STUDENT CONFERENCE

SEASSI

CESSI

FINAL CALL FOR PAPERS!

DEADLINE EXTENDED!

Abstracts due: JULY 5, 2017
Conference date: JULY 22, 2017

SASLI

APTLII

The University of Wisconsin Madison is pleased to announce a student conference hosted by the Wisconsin Summer Language Institutes (WISLI), to be held in conjunction with its summer language programs including the Arabic, Persian, Turkish Language Immersion Institute (APTLII); Central Eurasian Studies Summer Institute (CESSI); South Asia Summer Language Institute (SASLI); and the Southeast Asian Studies Summer Institute (SEASSI). The conference will be held on SATURDAY, JULY 22, 2017 at the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Participation is open to graduate and undergraduate students as well as independent scholars who are interested in presenting original research on various disciplines focusing on Southeast Asia, South Asia, Central Eurasia, Middle East/Mediterranean and North Africa. All WISLI students are encouraged to submit their abstracts and avail this great academic opportunity to network with other scholars working in various fields and area studies.

There is no registration fee to attend the Student Conference, and lunch will be provided for conference presenters. This event is free and open to the public.

All abstracts should succinctly describe the topic, methods, and argument, as panels will be created to accommodate the submitted presentations. Please limit presentations to between 10 to 15 minutes.

Potential presenters should include the following information with their submissions:

1. Three keywords pertaining to paper (i.e., Colonialism, Education, Philippines)
2. Title of the Paper
3. Abstract (approx. 250 words) of a complete paper or a research proposal
4. Short bio (i.e., name, position, institutional affiliation, research interests, language program)

Send abstracts to wisli.conference2017@gmail.com no later than WEDNESDAY, JULY 5, 2017.

For other general inquiries about the WISLI Student Conference, please contact Jessica Montez, Student Conference Coordinator at wisli.conference2017@gmail.com.